

HOME HAPPENINGS

Council meeting next Monday night.

Argus Masonic lodge room has been wired for electric lights.

New maple syrup is retailing in the local market at $2.25 per gallon.

T. C. Rose on Tuesday purchased a new Ford touring car of R. D. Fowler.

The brick pavement on Broad street, in spots, badly needs a bath or something of that sort.

A daughter was born last Thursday evening to Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Fay who reside on Court street.

We, February was not such a bad actor, after all. The month brought much spring-like weather along with the cold stuff.

William Coster, who went to the county infirmary from Struthers eight months ago, died Wednesday afternoon of pneumonia, aged 69.

Failure of a figure 1 to show in last week's Dispatch made it appear that Easter Sunday falls on March 3. The correct date is March 31.

Tuesday evening, March 5, North Jackson grange will be the guest of Dublin grange and will have charge of the program for the evening.

On March 15th the weight limit of parcel post packages within the third zone will be increased to 70 pounds and to 60 pounds in all other zones.

The C. W. B. M. of the Christian church will meet at the home of Mrs. I. E. Christman Wednesday afternoon, March 6, at 2 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

The Canfield Cow Testing Association met in Canfield Wednesday night and selected the old officers, namely, Randall Anderson president and R. J. Neff, secretary-treasurer.

C. C. Reynard, general secretary of Hiram college, will speak in the Christian church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. A general invitation is extended to all to hear Mr. Reynard.

Dr. J. M. Van Horn of Warren last Sunday celebrated his fiftieth year in the ministry. He was pastor of the Canfield Christian church years ago and it was here he married his first wife.

On Tuesday Mrs. W. Calhoun pleasantly entertained at her home on High street the Presbyterian Sunday school class of which she is a member. The ladies spent the afternoon knitting for the Red Cross.

Heavy traffic on some of the macadam roads in the village, along with freezing and thawing, will soon make them impassable and it is almost impossible at this time to do anything in the way of repairing them.

The Stitches Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. A. Arnold on South Broad street. Officers elected for the ensuing year are: Mrs. M. H. Little president and Mrs. I. A. Manchester treasurer.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis, Leroy, died last Sunday of pneumonia at the home of Curtis Fishel on East Main street and was buried Monday afternoon in the Ridge church cemetery in Green township.

Weather conditions have not yet been favorable for sugar making but most camps in this neighborhood have been opened. Some syrup has been made and if the season is right a lot will be as the sweet stuff is badly needed this year of grace.

Every day brings numerous drive-aways of automobiles through the village from western factories to eastern and southern states. Machines of nearly every make are seen in the trains. Last Sunday there was almost a continuous string of pleasure cars and trucks on what are known as war truck roads.

The Smilage Book committee has sold over Canfield's quota of books in the campaign. However, the war department has ordered that these entertainment tickets be kept on sale as long as there are any soldiers in the training camps. Smilage books can be purchased any time at F. A. Morris' drug store.

The entertainment given in the Methodist church last Friday night by the Vio Club, under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Pricer, for the benefit of the Red Cross, was largely attended and much enjoyed. The club will repeat the program in North Lima next Thursday night for the benefit of the North Lima auxiliary of the Red Cross.

David J. Morgan of Youngstown was a Canfield visitor Monday. He will be a candidate at the August primaries for the republican nomination for county commissioner. Mr. Morgan is a native of Canfield township and has resided in this county all his life. He was a candidate for commissioner about ten years ago and was defeated for the nomination by C. T. Agnew.

A farewell reception was tendered A. B. Williamson and family by the Methodist congregation at the church Monday evening. The family has been most active in the work of the church since coming to Canfield some years ago and all in attendance expressed regret over their departure to another state. Following the program games and refreshments were enjoyed in the church dining room.

James Rhodes of Green township, one of the Mahoning county boys in training at Camp Sherman, writes that on account of continued wet weather drilling has been greatly interfered with, the grounds being very muddy. He is a member of the military police company along with 27 other Mahoning county lads and all are eager to do their best. They are anxious for the order to come sending them over seas to whip the army of Kaiser Bill.

The concrete post at the corner of Broad and West Main streets, bearing finger boards, was broken down last Friday night, presumably by a truck backing into it, for which there was not the slightest excuse as it was only a few feet from an electric street light. The steel finger boards are badly bent, showing that the impact must have been terrific. The township trustees will have the guide-board replaced, it being a great convenience to so many drivers driving through the village.

S. D. Culp will sell at his residence, 2 miles northeast of Washingtonville, Thursday, March 7, at 12:30, 5 good horses, 4 cows, 1 C. I. brood sow, 7 shoats, farm implements, harness, household goods, etc.—adv.

Many a man blows his own horn only to come out at the little end of it.

MANCHESTER CO STORE ROBBED

Burglars Gained Entrance Through Warehouse and Secured Considerable Plunder.

The hardware store of The Manchester Co. on Broad street was burglarized early Thursday morning. Entrance was gained by springing open the large door of the warehouse in the rear of the store and breaking a glass in the door between the warehouse and main store so that a bolt could be pushed back. The plunder secured consisted of razors, knives, watches, pliers, cartridges, screw drivers, bits, rife, etc., the estimated value of which is about $200. One dollar and forty cents in change was taken from the cash register. The safe which had purposely been left unlocked was rifled but nothing of value was secured. Tracks in the mud near the warehouse show that two men worked on the job in the store while a third in an automobile acted as lookout. This is the third time within a few years that the store has been burglarized, the same method being employed each time. J. L. Manchester was in the store after 11 o'clock Wednesday night and left an electric light burning in the north front show window. The light was turned off by the thieves as much of the merchandise taken was in that locality. The boldness of the robbers is shown by the fact that the store is under the shadow of an electric street lamp and adjoins the local telephone exchange which never closes.

UNION EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

Union evangelistic services will be held in the village churches commencing March 10 and continuing through Easter Sunday, March 31, the following churches and their pastors participating: The Reformed, the Christian, the Methodist Episcopal, the Presbyterian.

The idea of these special meetings is to quicken the religious life of the church members and to give every person a special opportunity and invitation to make confession of their faith in Jesus Christ. It is necessary that meetings of this nature may be successful and reach as far into the community life as possible, that each man and woman, boy and girl feel that some weight of responsibility rests upon them for their success and resolve at the very beginning that they will do everything they possibly can to help in this great effort. Slackers are no use in a country's defense and slackers in the religious life of a community or to its religious betterment.

A series of cottage prayer services will be held next week, some eight or ten held upon each evening and each church in its own place Thursday evening.

The preaching at these special services will be done by local pastors and with the help of the working forces of the churches we can accomplish much for the furtherance of righteousness in this place.

Your interest and help is most earnestly asked. Whatever you can do, do it with all your might and we will see the kingdom advanced in our midst.

Each member pledged himself to purchase $1000 worth of War Savings Stamps during 1918, and to endeavor to secure new members for the society.

Everyone able to join is urged to do so without waiting to be asked and thus help put Canfield in the front rank in this big drive for Uncle Sam as it was in the two Liberty Loans.

ORCHARD DEMONSTRATION

Orchard demonstrations will be held in Mahoning County as follows: March 11, a. m., Kittle Brothers; p. m. C. W. Burrows, both in Coileville township.

March 13, a. m., E. C. Lehman, Beaver township, north of North Lima.

March 15, a. m., C. L. Stanley, Smith township, one mile north of Beloit. The orchard demonstrations will be conducted in the forenoon and as many visits will be made in the afternoon as possible to show those present something about their own orchards. All others not in these districts who desire it, we will be glad to arrange for other demonstrations. If you have young or medium aged trees we will be glad to arrange for demonstrations. Just drop us a card and we will arrange the schedule later. The latest methods of pruning will be demonstrated in these orchards and in most of them spraying demonstrations as well.

RED CROSS NOTES

The entertainment given by the Vio Club in the M. E. Church under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Pricer, last Friday evening, enriched the treasury of the local Red Cross to the amount of $60. Mrs. Pricer generously donating the entire receipts to the organization. On next Thursday evening the entertainment will be given in North Lima for the benefit of that auxiliary.

Canfield auxiliary, Mahoning Chapter American Red Cross, has the following to show for its work during the month of February: 56 pairs socks, 25 pairs wristlets, 24 helmets, 3 sweaters, 2 scarfs, 20 hospital bed shirts.

We desire to return most grateful thanks to friends and neighbors for the many kindnesses shown during the illness and after the death of our beloved husband and father, S. S. Porter.

SATIN AND VELVET

Rich Materials Plentiful Despite Threatened Shortage.

Only Thing That Seems to Be Scarce in Paris, Says Correspondent, Is Really Hard Wearing Cloth.

We are threatened with a deficiency of dress material for the coming year, but in the meantime the shops are well supplied with everything but really hard-wearing cloth, writes a Paris correspondent of the London Times. All such things as satins, silks and velvets are to be seen in abundance with many variations on one theme.

Perhaps the most popular material is stamped velvet of various kinds, for coats, evening cloaks, trimming instead of fur, and even for dresses, waistcoats and hats. Satin still is the most popular material for afternoon dresses; it is generally black. Often, now, a bold embroidery design in ivory wool or silk trims a satin tunic and gives it a lighter note and a richer touch. Indeed, embroidery of all kinds promises to come back into fashion. That those who are employed to work on it might do more useful work is an argument that dressmakers do not see; dressmaking in France, they maintain, must be allowed to flourish, not as a luxury, but as a national industry.

Boots are less high in the leg than they were and not many are made altogether of leather. The cloth-topped boot is the one most worn, and the all-velvet shoe is the most fragile. The buckle shoe is worn again at home, and the very high heel is more often seen at home than in the streets, where it is unbecomingly and dangerous. The national boot, wherever it has been found, is said to be satisfactory. Millinery is becoming. Black satin hats with no trimming are worn with neat veils. Brown panne hats and gray panne or satin are good. The small toque grows in favor; the high, heavy crown is dying out. The big picture hat is still in fashion, but, as a rule, a smaller hat is more practical as well as more attractive.

Everyone uses a small bag, in silk or beads or stamped velvet, with mount of tortoise shell or silver, or else a bag of shiny leather on a short strap. This last is more of a purse than a bag and it can be slipped into the small muff or carried in the hand. The long bag which hangs on the arm is pretty, but not practical.

NEAT FEATHER FANCY.

Very neat is the arrangement of this feather fancy on the smart pressed beaver hat, all in black. It is the finishing touch for a tailored costume.

JUST GROWING OLD

A little more tired at close of day,
A little less anxious to have our way;
A little less ready to scold and blame,
A little more care for a brother's name;
And we are nearing the journey's end
Where time and eternity meet and blend.

A little less care for bonds and gold,
A little more zest for the things of old;
A broader view and a saner mind,
And a little more love for all mankind;
And so we are faring adown the way
That leads to the gates of a better day.

A little more love for the friends of youth,
A little more zeal for established truth,
A little more charity in our views,
A little less thirst for the daily news;
And so we are folding our tents away
And passing in silence, at the close of day.

A little more leisure to sit and dream,
A little more real the things unseen;
A little bit nearer to those ahead,
With visions of those long loved and dead;
And so we are going where all must go,
To the place the living may never know.

A little more laughter, a few more tears,
And we shall have told our increasing years.
The book is closed, and the prayers are said,
And we are among the faithful dead
Thrice happy, if then some soul can say,
"I live because he has passed my way."

UTILITY

Flowing is the laughing river
From the fountain to the sea,
Honoring its cheerful giver
With increased fertility.

Ocean gives its wealth of showers
To the dry and thirsty land,
Nourishing the growing flowers
With a providential hand.

Revivifying air and mountain
With the moisture of the sea;
Giving health to spring and fountain
Lakes and rivers, vale and lea.

Adding virtue to the sunshine
Lending substance to its ray;
Moderating heat and snowline,
Unifying night and day.

Despondency Due to Constipation.

Women often become nervous and despondent. When this is due to constipation it is easily corrected by taking an occasional dose of Chamberlain's Tablets. These tablets are easy to take and pleasant in effect.

A SOLDIER'S POEM

I always was a rummy and always had the blues,
Until I woke one morning and still had on my shoes.
'Twas in Columbus Barracks and lying on the grass,
And Oh, the hard inspection I'd have that day to pass.
I went through buildings, rooms and scenes, to me were very new;
While placards oft before me, "Do as the man before you."
My clothes were taken from me and I left me chill and bare,
While officers and doctores loomed up from everywhere.
They hustled me from room to room, where I was in a stew,
Where we held up our hands, and said "I do, I do, I do."
My arm was filled with dope, that reached ere long my cells,
And many of the boys soon said, "I wish the Doc in Hell."
A chair suit was given me, my other suit a few bugs.
But when he said "I'll give you bits, you ought to see me fly."
I sent them all back home to Dad, the best of them he'd make.
To keep them safe till I go back, or give to some namesake.
They told us how to march and "face" and tried to make us "dress,"
But when we tried to "face about," we were a mixed up mess;
But then as soldiers one must be, and drill and drill and drill,
Till everyone knew how to step, to keep the ranks well filled.
Four days we stayed within this place and then they shipped us East;
They said to me "Cheer up my boy," On army chops you'll feast.
At "Squad" right and left and round about.
Right, left and front, in a straight line, and ways we learned as scouts.
Company right, and company left, commands we oft did hear,
But when the captain came around, we all did gait with fear.
He said we must not smoke or chew, while drilling or at rest;
And then to find a culprit, the lieutenant sure did his best.
At last it got so cold and damp, that congress thought it well
To send us to the warm southland where we could better drill;
And to Charlotte we came one day, that fair homeland of cotton,
Some days were fine, but when it rained, we found the mud was rotten.
For mud was mud, mud and mud, that yellow slushy mud;
Would plaster us from head to foot and loved us all it could.
You'll find it here and see it there; it's on your leggings too.
Last night I lay in bed and dreamed, a world of mud it seemed,
And if I died and went below, I hoped its like ne'er seen.
The colonel cursed, and captain swore, I thought of Sherman's words,
But we must take things as they come and warble as the birds;
For soon will come the greatest joy, of world-wide victory;
O'er Kaiser's awful hell he's made, when we will Hallooay
And as he sleeps in fields a-galore, the Sammies march and sing,
As they go straight for the goal—the city of Berlin.
With men and guns on land and air, and U-boats underneath
We'll show what God and man can do, with right to us bequeathed,
And equal rights to all mankind and banners all unfurled
We'll prove to all just its right and means the whole wide world.
—Ernest and his Chum.
